

Battery storage container project financing options in France 2026

Overview

Where is Alpiq's battery energy storage project located?

Alpiq, a Switzerland-based electricity producer, announced the acquisition of the 100 MW/200 MWh battery energy storage project located in the department of Oise, north of Paris, France from Harmony Energy, a renewable energy project developer. The project is expected to be commissioned in autumn 2026.

How can Bpifrance support innovation in batteries?

Bpifrance has launched a call for projects to encourage and support research and innovation in batteries in line with its ambition to support entrepreneurs towards a more sustainable development. Transition towards clean energies also brings innovations in energy storage, including in batteries.

Is battery storage a good investment?

Battery storage has less of a track record than other renewable energy assets such as solar and wind power. The lack of comfort on the part of lenders has meant that the project financing packages available have been generally unappealing, with low gearing and onerous covenants.

Why is project finance difficult for energy storage?

It has traditionally been difficult to secure project finance for energy storage for two key reasons. Firstly, the nascent nature of energy storage technology means that fixed income lenders and senior debt providers are naturally risk averse.

Will Alpiq buy a 30 MW battery energy storage project?

In June, the company also announced the acquisition of a 30 MW battery energy storage project in Valkeakoski in southern Finland, which is scheduled to commence operation in the summer of 2025. Alpiq is planning further acquisitions of battery storage projects in France, Switzerland, Germany, and the Nordics.

What is the largest battery in France?

The large-scale battery in the department of Oise, north of Paris, is expected to go into operation in 2026 with an output of 100 MW and a capacity of 200 MWh, making it one of the largest of its kind in France.
