

Comoros industrial and commercial energy storage subsidy policy

Overview

Is the Comoros transitioning to res?

The Comoros, like Madagascar, Mauritius, and Reunion, has recently focused its efforts on the transition to renewable energy sources (RES) throughout its territory. This paper provides policymakers with a comprehensive overview of the energy situation in the Comoros.

How will the Comoros Islands be affected?

The Comoros Islands could be affected by the energy review through extreme events such as natural disasters, volatility of oil prices, socioeconomic energy risks, or geopolitical instability.

Should Comoros invest in solar energy?

The Comoros has significant potential for the development of photovoltaic energy (should they invest in it*) given its economic situation. Recently, a French company signed a contract with SONELEC to purchase electricity from solar energy for 26 years.

What is the environmental impact of production in the Comoros?

The environmental impact of energy production in the Comoros is high, with a Global Warming Potential (GWP) of 0.930 kg CO₂ eq / kWh. At present, the level of production in the Comoros is small overall.

Should Comoros abandon its monolithic energy governance?

Comoros, like many small islands, should consider changing its monolithic energy governance due to its structural heaviness. The territory needs to adapt quickly to face the challenges of transition. Comoros's energy vulnerability is threefold.

Why are the Comoros focusing on energy security & sustainability?

Driven by global concerns, the islands throughout the Indian Ocean are becoming increasingly interested in energy security and sustainability issues. The Comoros, similar to Madagascar, Mauritius, and Reunion, has very recently focused their efforts on the transition to RES throughout its territory.
