Overview

What is the implementation plan for the development of new energy storage?

In January 2022, the National Development and Reform Commission and the National Energy Administration jointly issued the Implementation Plan for the Development of New Energy Storage during the 14th Five-Year Plan Period, emphasizing the fundamental role of new energy storage technologies in a new power system.

What did the energy storage rulemaking entail?

This rulemaking identified energy storage end uses and barriers to deployment, considered a variety of possible policies to encourage the cost-effective deployment of energy storage systems, including refinement of existing procurement methods to properly value energy storage systems. This rulemaking resulted in two CPUC Decisions, which are:

Does the energy storage strategic plan address new policy actions?

This SRM does not address new policy actions, nor does it specify budgets and resources for future activities. This Energy Storage SRM responds to the Energy Storage Strategic Plan periodic update requirement of the Better Energy Storage Technology (BEST) section of the Energy Policy Act of 2020 (42 U.S.C. § 17232 (b) (5)).

Is energy storage the future?

The key conclusion of the research is that deployment of energy storage has the potential to increase significantly—reaching at least five times today's capacity by 2050—and storage will likely play an integral role in determining the cost-optimal grid mix of the future.

What are energy storage systems (ESS)?

Energy Storage Systems (ESS) have a multitude of applications in the energy sector and can be used independent of or as a part of, power system infrastructure at various levels in generation, transmission, and distribution.

Where can I find information on the energy storage program & projects evaluation RFP?

CPUC staff received comments on the RFI and updated the RFP for release. More information on the energy storage program and projects evaluation RFP can be access at Cal eprocure. The energy storage program and projects evaluation Bidders' Library can be accessed here. The CPUC engaged Lumen Energy Strategy, LLC to conduct the study.
