Lujin, general manager of Zhouhan's new energy company, told High-tech Li-Power that the company focuses on the global high-end lithium battery energy storage market and is currently accelerating production to supply domestic and Japanese markets in bulk.

With the heating up of the lithium energy storage market, the new-born company Lujin (hereinafter referred to as "Lujin") is growing rapidly. "The company is expected to complete 150 MWh shipments this year, focusing on DC system integration. The main markets include domestic, Japan, Australia and.

With a capacity of 2 GWh, the four-hour storage system is described as the largest lithium iron phosphate energy storage project in the country. From ESS News The first phase of the Huadian Xinjiang Kashgar, China's largest standalone battery energy storage project, was commissioned on July 19. The.
