A battery storage system is a decades-long investment that a warranty can help protect.

Does a battery storage system need a warranty?

A battery storage system is a decades-long investment that a warranty can help protect. The less power your system stores, the more your home may need to draw from the utility company, which eats into your savings. A good warranty ensures that if your battery experiences a problem, that it will be replaced and your investment will be protected.

What is a battery warranty?

Also known as a materials warranty, a battery’s product warranty covers the integrity of the equipment itself. If your battery has a defect or mechanical issue, if it breaks, or experiences unreasonable wear and tear, that's where your product warranty comes into play.

What is a battery energy storage system (BESS) warranty?

As challenging as warranties are for battery energy storage system (BESS) owners and operators, it is possible for there to be more clarity. Look no further than how the automotive industry handles electric vehicle warranties. They are simple and flexible, typically covering time (usually eight years) and mileage (usually 100,000 miles).

Does a battery warranty cover labor costs?

Battery warranties typically won't reimburse for labor costs associated with installing new equipment or shipping fees for new equipment. Comparisons should focus on product warranty terms, end of warranty capacity, labor warranty terms, and transferability. Based on our ranking system, SolaX Power has the strongest overall warranty.

Does a battery Installer have a warranty?

Most battery manufacturers leave workmanship (labor) warranties to the installer. Still, like labor and shipping costs, some companies offer an extra safeguard by tacking on their own workmanship warranty coverage. When applicable, it's typically only an option if you work with specific installers in a manufacturer's certified network.
